Preferred Meeting Date: Thursday, June 12, 2008

Wording for the Agenda:

Approval of intergovernmental contract with the University of Georgia Cooperative Extension Service for the County's annual budget contribution for salaries and benefits for Fayette County Extension Service employees.

Background/History/Details:

The Fayette County Extension Service is a local office of the University of Georgia Cooperative Extension Service. Their operation is provided and under the control of the University System. However, Fayette County provides office space and other types of support to the Extension Service, including funds to augment hours and salaries of the employees. The employees are State employees, thus the supplemental funds provided by Fayette County are actually paid to the University, who disperses payment to the employees.

Annually, the County signs an agreement with UGA Cooperative Service establishing the amount of funds the County will pay to them. For FY '09, the contribution from Fayette County will be $56,660.64.
