OLD BUSINESS:

- 11. Discussion of the trend of transient / vacation lodging through short-term rentals in residential neighborhoods. This item was tabled at the February 17, 2014 Board of Commissioners meeting.

County Attorney Dennis Davenport said this issue of short-term leaseings has come up recently, and that both he and Code Enforcement Officer Kathy Hobbs have been working closely on it for the past several months. He explained that Fayette County is now a destination for people to locate on the internet and find a place to stay for a weekend or a week, and to enjoy themselves; which is well and good. That stated, he added that those kinds of relationships can bring some negative impacts. He said staff was trying to highlight some of the issues associated with short-term leaseings and was trying to get direction from the Board on how to proceed with resolving these issues. He suggested drafting an ordinance that would address some of the negative impacts with short-term leaseings. He then turned the floor over to Officer Kathy Hobbs.

Officer Hobbs showed a PowerPoint to the Commissioners concerning short-term leaseings, and she informed the Board that the county is receiving residential complaints from one particular neighborhood that is experiencing a tremendous problem with their neighbor who has a home that is being rented out for special occasions. She said the rentals are for weeks at a time. She told the Board that some of the problems involve motorcycle gangs coming into the neighborhood and disrupting the neighborhood. She further told the Board that big buses are coming to the neighborhood, and that the buses are causing damage to dams and county roads. Officer Hobbs reported that there is nothing on the books prohibiting this activity. She said the county met with the property owner and gave a cease and desist order, but the property owner replied that he was not in violation and that the activities would continue. Officer Hobbs told the Board that there are five known properties used for short-term leaseings, and she told the Board that those properties should be paying sales tax. She then showed her PowerPoint presentation to the Board and gave additional explanation on this matter. She explained that Georgia state law considers these types of situations as hotels and that the property owners were not paying appropriate sales tax as required by law. She stated that Fayette County can charge 3% taxes without going to the Georgia legislature asking permission to increase the tax. Officer Hobbs showed some of the websites available to rent properties nationally and within Fayette County, and she provided the Board with some of the rates being charged for short-term leaseings. It was pointed out that one rate "sleeps 26 for $600 per night," and Officer Hobbs reminded the Board that this accommodation runs afoul of fire safety codes. Officer Hobbs added that there were also septic concerns with this type of arrangement. Officer Hobbs then discussed the effects in the neighborhoods where vacation rentals take place. Officer Hobbs then asked the Board to consider how it wanted to address the issues surrounding short-term leaseings.

Ray Swann: Mr. Swann, a resident on Adams Circle, spoke about the negative impacts in his neighborhood due to a property owner who is using his property for short-term leaseings. He explained that there were several ongoing problems in his "one-street neighborhood." He said those problems, which began in the spring of 2013, have made his life and his neighbors' lives "hell." He told the Board that the Sheriff's Office has been called on numerous occasions due to noise and traffic. He explained that the problems typically begin around 7:00 a.m. and last until 3:00 a.m. He said the property is rented out for wedding receptions and other events, that the renters are making it impossible for the neighbors to enter or leave their driveways, and that shuttles are running up and down the street. Mr. Swann said he was appreciative of change, but that change had to be regulated. He explained that unregulated, uncontrolled change was destructive to communities and counties. He told the Board that community cohesiveness has been destroyed in his neighborhood by the one individual who is renting out his property. He asked the Board to look further into the matter in his neighborhood. Mr. Swann informed the Board that the person renting his property was also similarly renting his property in Oconee County.

Mona Arnold: Mrs. Arnold, a resident on Adams Court, said she and her husband moved to Fayette County in March 2013, and they moved to Fayette County because of the pristine homes and quiet, peaceful neighborhoods. She said the street she lives on seemed to be a wonderful place with great neighbors, but there is a problem. She explained that the problem began shortly after moving into the home when she and her husband started noticing tour buses. She said the problem property is near her house, and if she had known there was a hotel so close to her house then she would not have bought the house. She said people would get off the bus and walk up the driveway, but there were times when the big Greyhound-type bus would pull into the driveway. She said the bus would then try to turn around and would tear up the front lawn. She said one afternoon she found her husband, Mr. Swann, and another neighbor livid because a gang of about eight motorcycle riders had come into the neighborhood. She reported that another lady with two children was trying to get out of her driveway and was almost hit by the motorcycles. Mrs. Arnold said she can sit on her porch and hear loud music to the point that she does not want to sit on her porch anymore. She said there are times when she is alone at home and it concerns her that there are unknown people in the neighborhood. She said the people are walking the neighborhood, coming into other people's yards, while being strangers and while presenting safety concerns. She said this matter was destroying the community's quality of life, and she asked the Board to intervene in this matter.

Scott Hall: Mr. Hall, a resident of Adams Court, informed the Board that this is not the first time he has had dealings with his neighbor. He stated that there have been several occasions with parties and that those incidences have taken place over a lengthy period of time. He informed the Board that his neighbor built a pond on his property and in doing so he flooded the cul-de-sac. He said the pond was reported and the County, at that time, told him to stop working on the pond since it would continue to flood people's property. Mr. Hall said his neighbor went ahead and built the pond anyway. Mr. Hall said no one in the community was able to stop his neighbor, and that was why the neighborhood was asking for help in this matter. Chairman Brown asked if the county was aware of the pond incident. Director of Environmental Management Vanessa Birrell replied that she did not know if there was a record on the pond. County Attorney Dennis Davenport interjected that he had visited with the people on Tuesday night, and that he has a list of things to go over with Planning and Zoning Director Pete Frisina as well as with Mrs. Birrell.

Albert Shaw: Mr. Shaw, a resident of Adams Court, told the Board that his house was the first house constructed on Adams Court in 1985. He said Adams Court was a nice street where everyone knows and helps everybody else. Then, buses started coming into the neighborhood. He said he told his wife at the time that they have good neighbors, two of whom are pastors, and that the buses must be related to church business. He said it was discovered that they were party buses going to the cul-de-sac. He said the neighborhood was a good one with many senior citizens and retirees, and he said the neighborhood was full of children and grandchildren. He asked the Board to help in this matter.

Steve Richards: Mr. Richards, a resident of Adams Court, agreed with the previous citizens who spoke on this matter. He said one of the reasons the property owner found success in renting his property was because everyone else on the street took great care in maintaining their own property. He told the Board that he and Mr. Swann had maintained their lawn on the day that the motorcycle gang came to the neighborhood. The motorcycle gang learned of their displeasure and so the next day the tops of their yards were torn up from motorcycles driving through it. He said the action sent the intended message. He further told the Board that as the motorcycle gang was leaving, they made sure to stop at Mr. Swann's house and they took an extremely long time to fix their motorcycles or do other business or walk the street. He said those were his reasons in asking for help in this matter.

Ray Swann: Mr. Swann returned to the podium to inform the Board that the Fayette County Board of Education will not let their buses go down Adams Court since there is no room to turn a bus around at the end of the street. Commissioner Barlow asked if there was anyone living in the house or who is actively involved in the home. Mr. Swann replied by explaining how the property owner came into possession of the property, how he has family in the immediate vicinity, and how it appears he does not want to disturb his family. Mr. Swann added that the property owner's pond should be an environmental concern.

Mona Arnold: Mrs. Arnold returned to the podium and informed the Board that while she was unsure whether someone was currently in the house that anyone could look on the internet and find the house is booked up through the spring and all the way through the summer.

Albert Shaw: Mr. Shaw returned to the podium and told the Board that Adams Court is a “one-way street” with no outlet.

County Administrator Steve Rapson recommended putting this item on the April 4, 2014 Board of Commissioners Retreat Agenda and to draft an ordinance for Excise Tax in order to regulate rooms, lodgings, and accommodations. He said the Board could provide feedback at the retreat with a goal to subsequent approval after the retreat. He reminded the Board that the County can immediately begin collecting a three-percent excise tax without getting approval from the State of Georgia, and that the collected funds would go to the County’s General Fund. Mr. Rapson added that putting the recommendations into place would be a way of recouping some of the costs. He added that Code Enforcement and the Sheriff’s Office would be made aware of any activities taking place until the recommendations are put into place. Discussion followed.

County Attorney Dennis Davenport reminded the Board that it needed to truly determine what was occurring in the neighborhood and that is where the Excise Tax program would come into effect. He said the Excise Tax comes with a regulatory framework that helps to facilitate the problems being discussed. He said it would allow the County to limit the numbers and types of vehicles, as well as the number of times per time frame the location can be rented. Mr. Davenport added that in addition to enacting the Excise Tax, the County would merge other capabilities that would address the problems. He concluded that a draft ordinance would be prepared by the time of the retreat.

Commissioner Barlow said that public safety is the chief responsibility of Fayette County and of what is supposed to be provided to the citizens. He said the situation does not sound like the community is a safe environment. He said he wanted this issue to be raised to the very top of what the County needs to look into, and that the process needed to be expedited.

Chairman Brown said it appeared there were permitting issues that the County needed to look into immediately. Commissioner Ognio suggested that a handful of people start working before the retreat to look into what options are available. He wanted more minds involved. County Administrator Rapson replied that the regulations need to be pervasive enough to address problems while working with the film industry. He also reminded the Board that this issue was the tip of the iceberg with regard to how these types of activities will be regulated throughout Fayette County. Commissioner Barlow pointed out that legitimate film studios conduct themselves properly and responsibly.

Chairman Brown stated that this issue had caught the Board’s attention, that the appropriate staff has started a process to address the issues, and that the Board would look into what could be done. He also told the audience that the County Retreat would be held on April 4, 2014 at New Hope Baptist Church’s south campus. He said the retreat was open to the public and this issue would be addressed at the retreat.

The Board took no formal action and gave no direction on this matter. Copies of the request and PowerPoint presentation, identified as “Attachment 19”, follow these minutes and are made an official part hereof.

NEW BUSINESS:

- 12. Consideration of staff's recommendation to amend the contract with Jacob's Engineering Group, Inc. by approving Addendum #1 in an amount not to exceed $192,500.00, in order to complete required work for the Methane Remediation Plans for both the closed Northside and Southside landfills on First Manassas Mile Road.

Director of Environmental Management Vanessa Birrell gave a PowerPoint presentation on her request and answered questions from the Board. She said her request was to perform remediation as a result of a Notice of Deficiency that the County received from the Environmental Protection Division, in December 2013. She said the County had two perimeter methane wells that exceed the regulatory limits. She said the methane well on the north side of the landfill had exceeded its limits, on an off and on basis, since it was installed. She said an old remediation system was installed that has not worked or been repaired in the needed fashion since she began working for the County. She informed the Board that in 2011, the County installed two mitigation systems to mitigate methane that was migrating across the street into the other landfill, and that a passive remediation system was also installed. She reported that the County has reduced a good amount of methane at one well, but the levels have been hovering near the regulatory limit. Mrs. Birrell informed the Board that the proposal was to install ten wells at 30-feet deep, and to dig a 450-foot long trench about 12-inches deep for header pipes, as well as other equipment, to also mitigate the methane. She said this is the exact same system that was installed on the southside landfill that has worked really well. She also spoke of another solar-powered passive system that would convert some wells into extraction wells. Mrs. Birrell briefly described how the work would progress in getting the requirement met.

Chairman Brown reminded everyone that the County recently engaged Jacobs Engineering with this type of work and that the County has been very pleased with the quality of work they provide. Mrs. Birrell agreed that Jacobs Engineering has done quality and timely work. Commissioner Barlow asked if Jacobs Engineering was the firm that he observed working when he and Mrs. Birrell went to the landfill site. Mrs. Birrell replied that the gentleman who was doing the work was an employee of Jacobs Engineering. Commissioner Barlow pointed out that the reports had to be submitted by March 1, 2014. Mrs. Birrell agreed that she had a short amount of time to submit the reports, that she had already asked for an extension, and that if the Board did not approve she would have to ask for a second extension.

County Administrator Steve Rapson added that Jacobs Engineering has been very accommodating in working with the County, and that their base contract has been reduced twice to a total reduced amount of about $50,000.00.

Commissioner Barlow moved to accept staff's recommendation to amend the contract with Jacob's Engineering Group, Inc. by approving Addendum #1 in an amount not to exceed $192,500.00 in order to complete required work for the Methane Remediation Plans for both the closed Northside and Southside landfills on First Manassas Mile Road. Commissioners Ognio and McCarty seconded the motion. No discussion followed. The motion passed unanimously. Copies of the request and PowerPoint presentation, identified as "Attachment 20", follow these minutes and are made an official part hereof.

13. Consideration of staff's recommendation to amend the contract with Jacobs Engineering Group, Inc. by approving Addendum #2 in an amount not to exceed $104,000.00, in order to permit a new landfill required by recent changes to the Georgia Rules for Solid Waste Management.

Director of Environmental Management Vanessa Birrell gave a PowerPoint presentation on her request. Mrs. Birrell reminded the Board that around July 2012, she approached the Board asking for permission to argue with the Department of Natural Resources and the Environmental Protection Service about the proposed changes, and that the Board at that time had denied the permission to make those arguments. She said her request was for the Board to approve an addendum to the Jacobs Engineering Group contract that would permit a new, inert landfill. She said the very stringent, inert landfill requirements will cause the county to close its inert landfill that has been opened since 1990. She agreed that it was time to close the landfill since it is full. She said the County needed to permit a new inert landfill in the same manner that a new solid waste landfill would be permitted. Mrs. Birrell informed the Board that the new inert landfill would be north of the close inert landfill. She told the Board that the scope of work was for the Limited-Site Suitability Report and its involved fieldwork, the topographical survey, and the actual submission of the permit and design and operation report. Mrs. Birrell estimated that the new inert landfill could be operated for at least twenty years. She said this new inert landfill could be monitored closely to determine who has access to it, and that it would only be used by Fayette County's departments.

Chairman Brown complemented Mrs. Birrell on her work with Stormwater Management and with the landfills.

Commissioner Barlow moved to approve staff's recommendation to amend the contract with Jacobs Engineering Group, Inc. by approving Addendum #2 in an amount not to exceed $104,000.00, in order to permit a new landfill required by recent changes to the Georgia Rules for Solid Waste Management. Commissioner McCarty seconded the motion.

John Munford: Mr. Munford said he had a child attending Spring Hill Elementary, and he asked where the school was in relation to the new landfill. Mr. Rapson replied that the new landfill would not be near the elementary school.

Commissioner Oddo asked Mrs. Birrell what "limited site suitability" meant. Mrs. Birrell answered that it meant that the County was "not going the full gambit" and that the county could do further testing to determine where bedrock is located, as well as other types of analysis. She said this limitation would only address groundwater and wetlands. She said the county could look at seismic activity since landfills should not be placed over a fault. She stated that there is a whole list of requirements for hazardous waste landfills that "goes the full gambit." County Administrator Steve Rapson added that it depended on the type of landfill since, currently, the issue is about an inert landfill. He said that the County has to use the standards that the State of Georgia just changed to be solid waste. Commissioner Oddo asked what would happen after twenty years. Mr. Rapson replied that it would not go near the elementary school, but that there was more land available.

The motion to approve staff's recommendation to amend the contract with Jacobs Engineering Group, Inc. by approving Addendum #2 in an amount not to exceed $104,000.00, in order to permit a new landfill required by recent changes to the Georgia Rules for Solid Waste Management passed unanimously. Copies of the request and PowerPoint presentation, identified as "Attachment 21", follow these minutes and are made an official part hereof.

14. Consideration of Chairman Steve Brown's recommendation to adopt term limitations for the Board of Commissioners of no more than two consecutive four-year terms, and with said recommendation being retroactive to those holding office since January 1, 2011.

County Attorney Dennis Davenport reported that this item would require approval by the Georgia Legislature, and that this year's legislative session was shorter than most years due to the election cycle. He explained that if the Board approved this item, there would be no time to complete the legally required procedures before this year's legislative session was concluded. He suggested that the Board could submit this item for the 2015 Legislative Session. The Board consented to bring this item back around December 2014 for further consideration. The Board did not take formal action on this item. A copy of this request, identified as "Attachment 22", follows these minutes and is made an official part hereof.

15. Consideration of Commissioner Allen McCarty's recommendation to adopt Resolution 2014-11 acknowledging American English as the Official Language of Fayette County.

Commissioner McCarty informed everyone that at the founding of this county, a vote was taken on whether English or German would be the official language of the United States. He stated that English was the chosen language by one vote, and he recommended that Board adopt American English as the official language of Fayette County. Commissioner McCarty then read Resolution 2014-11 into the record. The following is Resolution 2014-11 as read into the record:
