PUBLIC COMMENT:

Rob Scogin: Mr. Scogin informed the Board that he has resided in Fayette County for 29 years, and he asked the Board to consider enacting an ordinance, similar to the County's adjoining communities, in order to curtail "saggy pants" through the indecency laws already in place. He said he first through saggy pants was just a fad, but it now appears that the fad will not go away unless the people stop it. He added that saggy pants are not allowed in Fayette County schools, and he hoped the Board and the citizens could be proactive about this issue.

Tricia and Steve McCarney: Mrs. Tricia McCarney said that she supported Mr. Scogin's comments, and that the people are tired of seeing saggy pants as well. She said she would be cited if she walked down the streets dressed as some of the kids and young adults dress who walk down the streets with saggy pants hanging down. She said she did not want Fayette County to have an influx of saggy pants on the streets, and she asked if the Board would consider implementing regulations, similar to efforts taken by the City of Newnan, and already in place in the City of Jonesboro. She said she is a Christian woman, and it is offensive to see saggy pants. Mr. Steve McCarney added that he agreed with his wife's comments, and that the saggy pants were offensive to him, his wife, and other community members.

Randy Ognio: Mr. Ognio thanked County Administrator Jack Krakeel for information that he sent earlier that answered some questions that he had. He questioned Consent Agenda Item 9, saying that it amazed him that the County does road projects with the City with the assumption that it is the cheapest way to accomplish the projects. He said even though the work was being done for the City of Fayetteville, and the City would pay for the material, that he remained amazed that the government just assumes they can do the work cheaper than anyone else can. He said he was glad to read that Fayette County received three bids associated with Consent Agenda Item 10, and another five bids for Consent Agenda Item 11, and that this effort was a lot better than what the County has previously been doing. He next spoke about Old Business Item 13, and he said putting a tower at a fire station should not be county business, and that if the communication companies wanted to place a tower in that area they should go to a private property to do so. He asked if something happened to the septic system at Fire Station 1, and the septic lines had to be rerouted around a tower in the way, then the citizens would pay the bill for the additional work.

Charles Culp: Mr. Culp said he wanted to reiterate the concerns expressed earlier about the clothing worn by some of the “young folks in town”, and especially at the Fayetteville Pavilion. He said if you go to the Wal-Mart in Fayetteville, the clothes worn by some of the young people are disgusting. He said he hated to see Fayette County be dragged down the gutter because of something that could have been prevented.

Chairman Frady said the Board was glad to hear his opinion on the issue, and he asked if Mr. Culp had gone to Fayetteville City Hall about this issue since the Pavilion is in the City of Fayetteville. Mr. Culp said that his concern was also about the county since it is not limited to the City. He asked for the citizens and the Board to do their part, and to enact an ordinance regulating saggy pants in Fayette County.

ADMINISTRATOR'S REPORTS:

Fiscal Year (FY) 2011 Emergency Operations Center (EOC) Grant Program: County Administrator Jack Krakeel informed the Board and the public that Fayette County has been awarded a grant, through the Office of the Governor and the Federal Emergency Operations Center Grant Program, for $950,000. He said that staff has worked long and diligently in an effort to secure the grant funding. He explained that only $12 million was available for this year's grant program, and that Fayette County was the only county in the entire Southeast that was awarded a grant. He continued that Fayette County is also one of the only counties that received up to $1 million; most other grants were substantially less than what Fayette County was awarded. He congratulated staff for their hard work, and he said if it were possible for a grant to receive a score of "perfect 10", the Fayette County scored a "perfect 10". He closed saying this grant would go a long way to assisting the County in building the Emergency Operations Center, which has been a longstanding Public Safety priority for many years, and that this grant funding would lessen the tax burden on the citizens.

COMMISSIONERS' REPORTS:

Commissioner McCarty: Commissioner McCarty said he was glad to hear from some of the citizens in Fayette County who oppose those who wear their clothing below certain areas of the human anatomy. He then told the Board that he was against saggy pants for several reasons, since they were unattractive, the style was a detriment to younger people in the Fayette Community, and since, based on experience, it "usually leads to incentives for people who don't mind looking in your car [and] grabbing your pocketbook." He said he wanted Fayette County to enact an ordinance that would curtail the wearing of baggy pants in the community. Chairman Frady directed the County Attorney to review the issue and to return to the Board with his findings.

Commissioner McCarty also updated the Board concerning his mother-in-law who recently fell and broke her hip. He said the care received by the County's Public Safety services was excellent and flawless, and that his mother-in-law is home recovering.

ADJOURNMENT:

Commissioner Hearn moved to adjourn the November 10, 2011 Board of Commissioners Meeting. Commissioner McCarty seconded the motion. No discussion followed. The motion passed 4-0.
