Old Business

Review of Friday night live event from 6/14/19 and pictures presented from the event as well.

Discussion of the “Chalk the Park” event scheduled for July 13th. We will invite any artists that participated in the Friday night live event to come to this as well.

There was a discussion of the workshops proposed by Vice Chair Dan Guyton for the benefit of members not present at the last meeting.

Cameron LaFoy said that he would reach out to the Fayette County Library ASAP to find out about a performance space for at least one of those proposed workshops.

Jacqueline Howell advised us that she was the manager of a local mime troupe that might be well served to take part in one of the proposed workshops as well.

Approximately 15 minutes into the meeting, Heather Cap, who was the coordinator of the Fayette County Chalk Festival, arrived and thanked the committee for their cooperation and advised us that she was hopeful that we would have the event again next year. This was greeted very optimistically, as the committee was very receptive to the idea. There was some discussion about how the event could be improved or added to as well as bringing up the need for a new banner to help identify the committee at future events. Jacqueline Howell will propose designs for a new banner. It was also expressed that possibly the need for better signage simply to direct the public toward any artists we have at future events, as well as having the artistic experience more ADA accessible so that we as a committee representing the artistic part of our community can have a closer outreach to every possible section of our citizenry.
